VCHC CONFERENCE PROCEEDINGS 2020

In spite of the fact that you were not able to present your work in person, you have the opportunity to share your faculty-sponsored work with a global audience through ODU Digital Commons.

Your submitted abstract has already been uploaded to the digital Conference Proceedings (https://digitalcommons.odu.edu/vchc-conference/).

Who Can Submit

Undergraduate students scheduled to present at the 2020 Virginias Collegiate Honors Council Conference are encouraged to submit their posters, presentations, creative works and projects to the VCHC 2020 Conference Proceedings. If the work is co-authored, please make certain you have the co-author's permission to publish the work in this venue.

Benefits to students

1. Provides online open access to your work
2. Provides a permanent URL that you can link to in your future academic or job applications
3. Showcases and promotes your work through Google and Google Scholar
4. Provides long-term archiving and preservation of your work
5. You still retain copyright ownership and can re-use as needed

How to Submit Your Work

1. Make sure your work is in an acceptable format. PDF is preferred, but we can accept papers in Microsoft Word or Rich Text Format, Posters and Art Work in image formats (JPG, GIF or PDF), PowerPoint presentations (PPT), and Audio files (MP3). Videos should be uploaded to YouTube or Vimeo, and you just provide the link -- we can accept MP4, but download size may be an impediment.

   If you use a word-processing program other than Microsoft Word, look for an "export" or "save as" option in your program to save it as an RTF file.

   If you have questions about other formats, please contact the ODU Digital Commons Manager (digitalcommons@odu.edu).

2. Submit your work by emailing it to the ODU Digital Commons Manager (digitalcommons@odu.edu). In the email message, please indicate that you have seen the entry in ODU Digital Commons (https://digitalcommons.odu.edu/vchc-conference/2019/) and that everything is accurate.

    If the information is not accurate, please provide any changes needed in your email. Especially look at Title, Author/s, Email address, Abstract.

3. You will be notified by e-mail when your work and any revisions are posted. For additional information, or if you have any questions, please contact the ODU Digital Commons Manager (digitalcommons@odu.edu).
